

Dear Looe

What a wonderful place Looe is - you must all be so proud so old and ^{yet} its character preserved. Very friendly and welcoming people. Thank you and congratulations to all of you that make it so.

We think that you've got it 100% right with your Tourist Information first port of call for most visitors. We ^{travel} a lot to many large tourist towns only to find the Tourist Information so non-existent or it is a holder with leaflets in a book shop - with no one to speak to and no real local events to obtain information about. It is local interest we need (Looe has a vast amount) not the Monkey Sanctuary. In the many years we have been coming here we have decided that Looe Tourist Information is second to none in coming first. They are so friendly, made to feel welcome, nothing is too much trouble for them and they seem to really really care about their visitors and Looe. There does not seem a question that they do not have the answer to, a mine of information delivered with pride. They are a front line N°1 asset for Looe. Hope you protect and look after this valuable service. Our personal grateful thanks to all the staff.

We would also like to comment that the City Buses are a great improvement in size on the old Greyhound service - being able to carry more passengers means people are not left stranded at the bus stop. However! They do seem to be very prone to breaking down but hopefully the new buses that we have been told about (August-drivers) will be reliable and the time tables adhered to. We do greatly miss the bus that just went up and down from the Fire Station to Looe Bay holiday park - it meant a bus every 1/2 hour. A breakdown ^{now} does represent two hours between buses - we know from ^{two} experience in two days and there are a lot of comments on this issue. Trust you will consider printing this in your Looe Mag as a thank you from some visitors you look after
